CHAPTER XV.

It was clear enough that the hauled and the white man had been plotting to hand us over to the authorities, but how far they had gone we did not know. We didn't find out until night. It was not until later that I learned the white man's horseback had been given to give a warning about to the captain of a cutter in the harbor, and that the cutter had not been shovelled off to carry the message to the officials of the larger islands as it's salt away.

Not knowing this, we used a good deal of persuasion to put the idea only into the heads of the two men who we could not possibly be Germans. It may have been our eloquence, or more likely, the gentleness of the sea, but at any rate, they seemed to lose all their suspicions and became convinced that we were the truest Norwegians from Finnmarkland, Kleibreiss and so forth, to the worse from our session at the native work, steep at the English man's house.

The skipper of our clipper who was standing next to me said he supposed he had brought over the proprietor of the Island. The new arrival lowered a boat. In it were a military officer and four Indian soldiers. The boat rowed steadily toward our ship. We surmised at once that they were coming for us. Having received the message sent by the suspicious half-breed and the white man that there were six Germans on the island, the

The gaze of several bewildered spectators, and certainly frightened, I noticed, I thought as he looked stable. Apparently, he was digesting the fact that he and his men were practically unarmed and the certainty that we could be armed to the teeth.

"We have," I continued, "three grenades and three magazines for our submachine gun. I have two pistols with me to random chance. If we were in a bind, you would be our predators. However, he put us in there, and we've

CHURCH ACTIVITIES

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY
Chapman Street
Services Sunday morning at 10:45. Subject of the lesson, "Soul." Sunday School at 10 o'clock. Wednesday testimonial meeting at 7:30 P. M.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH
L. A. Edwards, Pastor
10:45 Morning Worship. Subject of sermon by the pastor will be "Our Wilderness Life."

Are you fond of the woods? As you stand on the borders of a great forest do you feel the pull of it? When you see a great waste place, do you ever feel the challenge of it? Would you like to reclaim it, and make it blossom like the rose?

Have you ever thought of the barren wastes in our own lives, that correspond to the waste places we find in the natural world? Places where nothing good grows. Can these places be reclaimed? Come to church next Sunday, and let us think about these places and see if they cannot be beautified.

BETHEL METHODIST CHURCH
Rev. W. B. Patterson, Pastor
Church School meets Sunday morning, 9:45.

Prayer Service, 10:45. Epworth League Sunday evening, 7:30.

Regular Evening Service, 7:30. Class Meeting Tuesday evening 7:30.

WEST BETHEL UNION CHURCH
Robert C. Hopp, Pastor
Morning Worship at 10:30 with sermon by the pastor. "The Hound of Heaven."

The church historian, George Frothingham, has declared that the deepest truth of religion is not the free will of man, but God's infinite dependence upon God. Certainly we have for the undoubted truth of our spiritual life and being to have it said that, with Augustine, we could say, "I have made as for myself alone, and my works are vestiges until they are in Thee." This sermon is based on a quotation from Emerson in his biography of Charles Sumner.

Reclaiming bits of quaint dense temple steps beyond the desert. I confound old solid with public life. But my one unchanged element, where, where my feet have trod, is a little, unknown, haunting, never-sated thirst for God.

The meeting begins at 7:30 and a general meeting of program will be the attraction. All are cordially invited to be present at these services.

Old Churches Put to Variety of Purposes
The oldest English church in the United States is a monument to the human race, combined with the needs and institutions of religion. This body of persons is treated with the administration of the spiritual affairs of a parish was a building which served the needs of the church in ancient England.

vestries regulated all parochial affairs ecclesiastical as well. Indeed, the parish church of the fourteenth century was the common hall, sometimes the common market place and theater of its district. When the floor and portable altar were removed the church would be employed for all purposes. A landowner who found he had more land than he could take care of on his own premises could store it in the church stacks by paying a fee to the parson. Even the fence of the church was used. Especially in the more exposed districts near the sea, it was a place of refuge, the castle of the island.

Oxford County

United Parish
Embracing Albany, North Lovell, Stoneham and the Waterford. Pastoral Staff: Revs. W. I. Bull, M. F. Wentworth, A. C. Townsend.

Rev. B. F. Wentworth is absent taking a part of his vacation. He is attending a conference on religious education at Lake Winnepesaukee, N. H.

The service at North Lovell last Sunday was conducted by Rev. H. M. Robinson of Philadelphia. His messages are an annual treat.

The moving picture to be shown throughout the Parish this week is "Topsy and Eva" by the Duncan Sisters. It was shown at Waterford Flat on Monday evening instead of Wednesday, the usual evening.

The Radeliffe Chautauque comes again to Waterford with its three days of entertainment and popular education. The tent will be set up in the usual place on the green, and the entertainments will be given on the afternoons and evenings of Thursday, Friday and Saturday. On Thursday evening, between the entertainments, the Waterford Circle will serve a supper in the Masonic Hall.

Camps Kokosing and Konevaga are loyally supporting the Waterford Church Building Fund with the proceeds of their entertainments and special Kokosing has already given an entertainment at the Grange Hall to a party audience, and there have been two Waterford Pageants, the last on Tuesday afternoon.

Two annual fairs are being held this week within the Parish. One at East Stoneham, on Thursday afternoon and evening, with a supper between. In the evening there will be an entertainment, and the moving pictures will be shown for the benefit of the fair. The other, at North Lovell, on Friday afternoon and Saturday morning, will be a first fair which it is hoped will be an annual event. Here also there will be a supper, and the moving pictures for the benefit of the fair.

Next Sunday afternoon at 5:30 standard time, there will be an All-Parish sunset service at Camp Konevaga on the shore of Lake Keegan, New Brunswick. Mr. and Mrs. Margaret Eggington Owen will tell one of her famous stories for young people.

All the friends of Rev. Hilda L. T. and that includes the whole Parish, are invited to attend the wedding of her daughter Elizabeth to Mr. Alger Baldwin of Bethel, at the Waterford Church, on Tuesday, Aug. 20, at 3:30 P. M.

MAINE CENTRAL PUBLICATIONS MANAGER RESIGNS

The resignation of Dudley Allmon of Portland from the position of Publications Manager of the Maine Central Railroad, was announced Wednesday. For over three years he has had charge of the road's publicity Bureau and last summer directed the advertising and publicity of the 14 steam railroads of the State in their successful campaign for an affirmative vote on the new railway rate law.

After coming to Maine seven years ago to assume the editorship of the Maine Farmer, Mr. Allmon has formed a wide acquaintance in every part of the State, and has familiarized himself with Maine's publicity and advertising problems.

Though his new position as Eastern New England Manager of the J. D. Bates Advertising Agency of Springfield, Mass., Merchandising and Public Relations Council, will take him to Boston, where he will take charge of that firm's offices in the State Building, it is understood that he is retaining many of his Maine advertising contacts.

An optimist is one who puts two cents on a letter and marks it cash.

REUNION GOULD'S '29

"Once again we 'Get-Together' On the picnic ground are seen To review the bond that binds us And to keep our memory green."

As the dear old hills of Bethel To our vision, now unfold, Let us pledge anew our friendship Which is better far than gold.

As we meet we talk together Of old Gould's and days now past And it seems each 'Get-Together' Is lots better than the last.

Thus today the hills seem larger, And the valleys seem more green, And old Gould's will grow the dearer As the years stretch out between."

Another milestone was reached last Wednesday, when eighteen of the '29 G. A. pupils with their respective wives or husbands and four guests met in annual reunion—this being the fourteenth consecutive year.

The place—a spot of unusual beauty at the rear of the Cape Homestead—a natural amphitheatre extending down to the Androscoggin river on the opposite shore beautiful intervals and in the distant background the White Mountain range, with its varying foothills: the only point of the compass not offering mountain scenery being that hidden by our loved Sunset Lodge.

The "cats" were in their usual abundance, thoroughly appreciated—as the depleted remnants gave evidence. Lunch was followed by a brief business session—messages from absentees being given at this time.

Many faces were recently missed—deceased or other equally unavoidable ones.

Some compensation was found, however for these vacant places, in the always deep joy brought by the presence of the former assistant principal, Frank R. Linscott, Mrs. Linscott and two of their charming daughters.

Not fully recovered from the results of a serious automobile accident, all were impressed and inspired with the happy reminiscences given in Mr. Linscott's usual buoyant and optimistic tone.

Probably wholly undreamed by "teacher" is the influence left to bear successfully any misfortune which might befall as he briefly referred to the accident and attendant complications, when in wakened hours of the long nights he tried to recall the most pleasant experiences life had brought and finding the year at Gould's holding large place.

These remarks touched a responsive chord in the heart of each listener that had been privileged to share a friendship so valuable and so enduring.

The earnest wish was generally expressed that Mr. Linscott's returning health, the foundation for which already so securely begun, might continue speedily, until again becoming perfect and permanent.

One other most pleasurable feature was a personal account of the dedicatory exercises of the Edward Bok Memorial and Bird Sanctuary by members privileged to enjoy a winter residence in Florida.

Like all good things this reunion could not but end: good byes were said as the crew was registered to make 1930 "Get-Together" the banner year for attendance.

The ladder of success is full of splinters, but they hurt worst when you are sliding down.
